

7.5.4. How to register in Mendeley?

A user account can be set up at the Mendeley website by entering: name and surname, the UPV's email address and a password.

Users setting up an account become part of the university's institutional account, which offers more features than available with the free personal account.